Close source says Agnew not quitting

WASHINGTON (AP) — A source close to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today he was increasingly certain that reports saying Agnew may resign this week are not true. A spokesman for President Nixon refused to comment on the report.

Gerald L. Warren, Nixon's deputy press secretary, also refused to comment when asked if Agnew continues to have the full faith and confidence of the President. Warren said he adopted the position of not commenting after talking to Nixon.

The source familiar with Agnew's thinking said he believes the report in the Washington Post quoting a senior Republican figure as saying he is 99½ per cent sure Agnew will leave office "is a bad overreading of something he (Agnew) might have toyed with.

"Moreover, the source (for the story) apparently caught Agnew in a moment of reflection and came away with the impression that this was going to happen," the Agnew associate said. "Agnew is a man under siege and therefore is highly susceptible to being misinterpreted in what he says."

Warren made it clear he had adopted a blanket no comment policy concerning the vice president's situation "after talking to a number of people ... including the President."

He was asked if he still denied the White House is fashioning contingency plans for the nomination of a new vice president should Agnew resign.

"I'll continue those denials today," he said.

Warren also was asked if he stood by his earlier statement that Nixon and Agnew did not discuss a possible resignation when they last met formally and privately on Sept. 1.

"I have no reason to change my comments in the past," he said.

The Post said that it has learned that Agnew has held lengthy discussion in the past few days on the advisability of resigning voluntarily.

The report was not flatly denied by Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson, although he said it was "no better a story than the rumors that have been circulating about the vice president recently."

Thomson has declined to comment directly on the substance of the various news reports concerning Agnew's

Comprehensive plan to be discussed here

The City Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 7:30 tonight at the City Administrative Building.

The agenda includes discussion of the review of the comprehensive city plan by Ron Yersak of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission; reports on contacts with property owners regarding street conditions requested by the Sikeston Industrial Development Corp.; and the report of a special committee regarding the solid waste transfer station on the city's old landfill site.

Also to be discussed are problems relating to trailers, campers, and mobile homes in the city and Rev. R. C. Martin's request for modification of the plan for the senior citizen housing.

City collects $12,333 in August taxes

The city collected $12,333.29 in taxes and fees during August, according to City Collector C. W. Martin.

Back tax collections for real estate totaled $3,234.67, while personal property back taxes netted $3.49.

License collections totaled $5,422.43, including $5,381.43 from merchant licenses, $35 from liquor licenses and $6 in dog licenses.

Miscellaneous collections totaled $3,672.70, including $3,634.52 from Associated Natural Gas Co. and $37.38 in interest.

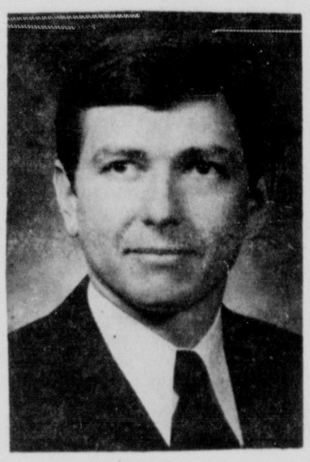

Ashcroft to crown queen

John Ashcroft, Missouri state auditor, will be in Sikeston Sept. 27 to crown the 1973 Junior Miss Sikeston during Cotton Carnival festivities, State Rep. C. F. Cline, chairman of the dignitary committee, announced today.

The 29th annual American Legion Cotton Carnival gets under way Monday and runs through Sept. 29.

Ashcroft was appointed state auditor of Missouri on Jan. 8 to serve the remaining two years of a four- year term vacated by Christopher S. Bond when the latter became governor. Ashcroft is the youngest state auditor in Missouri history.

He was born in Chicago, Ill., on May 9, 1952, and was reared in Springfield, Mo., where he attended Hillcrest High School. Ashcroft continued his education at Yale University and graduated cum laude with an bachelor of arts degree in 1964. In 1967, he received a doctor of law degree from the University of Chicago Law School.

Ashcroft was admitted to the Missouri bar in 1967 and has practiced law since 1968.

For five years, he taught business Law at Southeast Missouri State University in Springfield where he was an associate professor.

He is the author of "College Law for Business" (1971), a textbook used in junior colleges and professional schools.

Among his activities, Ashcroft has served as second vice president of the Rotary Club of Springfield, on the executive board of the Greene County Red Cross, as a director of Sunshine Children's Home and as a member of the board of directors of his local Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

He and his wife Janet, who is also an attorney, have a four- year - old daughter named Martha.

Car overturns; Sikeston man seriously hurt

Roland Stout Jr., 44, of Sikeston was seriously injured in a one- vehicle accident at 3 p.m. Monday on Route Y one-half mile west of Salcedo.

Stout said he tried to avoid some dogs in the road and the gasoline truck he was driving ran off the north side of the road and overturned. He was partially thrown from the vehicle and pinned under the truck.

Stout was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital with a crushed pelvis and chest and back injuries. A member of the family said this morning that Stout was in serious condition and was to undergo surgery later in the morning.

The highway patrol investigated the accident.

Church roofing trusses fall

A strong gust of wind toppled roofing trusses at the new sanctuary being constructed at Clayton Avenue Missionary Baptist Church about 1:15 p.m. Monday. One man was seriously hurt and three others escaped injury. All four walls of the building were damaged. John Parks of Morehouse (bottom photo) walks through the building trying to decide the best area to start cleaning up.

Man hurt in fall

One man was seriously hurt and three others escaped injury at 1:15 p.m. Monday when a sanctuary under construction at Clayton Avenue Missionary Baptist Church, 200 Clayton Ave., collapsed under a strong gust of wind.

Leon Smith, 42, who had just arrived in Sikeston from Des Moines, Iowa, was listed this morning in fair condition with back injuries at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. The extent of his injuries were still undetermined because tests were not complete.

Smith was injured when he fell 15 feet from the northwest corner of the building and landed on his back. The new building faces Lora Street at the corner of Lora and Clayton Avenue.

The other three men, contractor Jerry White, 608 Carroll Ave., and workmen Sammie Fodge, 806 N. Main, and John Parks of Morehouse escaped injury. They were inside the building when a gust of wind toppled the roof trusses, knocked them to the floor and damaged all four walls of the building.

All of the trusses were up, according to one of the workmen, when a sudden gust of wind caught one and knocked it into another. The remaining trusses toppled in domino fashion. Large parts of two walls were knocked down.

Workmen were cleaning up the debris this morning and the extent of damage was still not known.

The building was to have cost $35,000, according to city building permit records.

Fire comes to firemen

Firemen had a fire delivered to them Monday when a truck loaded with smoldering trash was driven to the West Malone Avenue fire station at 6:30 p.m.

Police escorted the truck, owned by Clarence Booker, to the west edge of town where the garbage was dumped and the fire extinguished by firemen.

Firemen were called at 1:32 p.m. Monday to Myers Drive when someone set fire to an old couch next to a trash barrel. Firement put the couch fire out.

Dexter chief asked to resign

DEXTER — Police Chief Tom Nunn said today that he has been asked to resign by Mayor Willis Conner.

Chief Nunn said he was called to Mayor Conner's office this morning, at which time the mayor told him it was the decision of the city council to ask Nunn to resign his office.

The council met in special session Monday night following the regular council meeting. The police chief and the city policemen were barred from the session. Chief Nunn said the purpose of the meeting was to discuss his dismissal.

Chief Nunn said that he informed the mayor this morning that he would not resign as police chief because no charges or complaints had been filed against him. He added that he would hold his office until he is officially fired.

Mayor Conner could not be reached this morning for comment.

Tells of trip to moon

Col. James B. Irwin, left, former astronaut who visited the moon in 1971, was speaker at Monday night's Key 73 Community Celebration Service in Charleston. With Irwin are Fred Ferrell, center, overall Key 73 phase chairman, and the Rev. Lindsay Faris, phase 5 chairman.

Moon trip changed Irwin's life

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

CHARLESTON — "You look out and can see forever and, looking back at the Earth, the size of a marble, you feel very small, but you feel the greatness of God," Col. James Benson Irwin, former astronaut, said Monday night while speaking of his space travel to the moon.

Irwin, 43, of Colorado Springs, Colo., addressed an estimated crowd of 1,100 assembled in the high school auditorium for the Community Celebration Service, the climax of Phase V of Key 73, sponsored locally by the Community Ministerial Alliance and laymen.

During his talk, Irwin related some of his space experiences and spoke of the changes in his life style since completion of the 13- day Apollo 15 moon mission which ended with splashdown in the Pacific Ocean on Aug. 7, 1971.

Irwin said in a press conference prior to his address that he and fellow astronauts David R. Scott and Alfred M. Worden were deeply involved in the details of space training and were nuts and bolts men, with no time to be concerned with their fellow men before their trip to the moon.

"We returned transformed, as humanitarians with compassion for our fellow man and a deep desire to share with them the things we saw and felt while on the surface of the moon," he said.

This desire to share his feelings and to tell of the special presence of God which he felt on the moon led to the formation of High Flight, a non- profit organization founded by Irwin following his retirement from the Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronaut program on Aug. 1, 1972.

The new organization has, according to Irwin, provided the way for him to share his faith in God and has given him the opportunity to serve humanity through speaking engagements, publications, retreats and training activities.

In response to a question concerning the feelings of atheists in the space program who have flown to the moon, Irwin said, "I haven't had the opportunity to talk with those who have flown, but I feel that no matter what they say, even the Russians, they would have to admit they felt closer to God. When you're on the moon you have to realize that someone up there does have a plan."

Irwin has written a book titled, "To Rule The Night", due to be published in October. In it he tells his personal story, how he became an astronaut and how his one trip to the moon changed his entire life and gave him a new mission.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., he and his wife Mary Ellen now live in Colorado Springs, Colo., with their five children, Joy, Jill, James B., Jan and Joe. Their last son, Joe, was an Asian orphan adopted last year by the Irwins from an orphanage in South Vietnam.

Also appearing on Monday night's Key 73 program were the Born Again Ministry, a youth singing group from Charleston directed by Phil Ross, and The Heart Beats, a youth singing group from Sikeston led by the Rev. Coy Presson.

Don McNeely of KFVS-TV in Cape Girardeau served as master of ceremonies and the Rev. Michael Swalina led the audience in the responsive reading of Psalms 34. Invocation was offered by Mrs. Maxine Neece and benediction was given by Warren Moss. Mrs. Sam Oliver was organist and Mrs. Robert Graham the pianist.

Fred Ferrell served as overall phase chairman of Key 73. Don Moxley was chairman of Phase V, assisted by the Rev. P. Lindsay Faris, co- chairman.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If no one else will do it, a man will pet himself.

* * *

There are those of us who can remember that there was no higher compliment you could pay a man than to call him a "square-shooter." A businessman's promise of a "square deal" was as binding as an oath on a Bible. So we are fed up with those who are distorting and corrupting our time- honored vocabulary.

Today's "square" volunteers when he doesn't have to.

He's a guy who gets his kicks from trying to do a job better than anyone else.

He's a boob who gets so lost in his work he has to be reminded to go home.

He even believes in God and says so -- in public!

A square is likely to save some of his own money for a rainy day, rather than count on using yours.

He tells his son it's more important to play fair than to win.

A guy who thinks Christmas trees should be green and Christmas gifts should be hand- picked.

And he wants to see America first -- in everything.

He believes in honoring father and mother and "do unto others," and that kind of stuff.

... So will all gooney-birds answering this description please stand up. You misfits in this brave new age. Stand up and be counted! You squares ... who turn the wheels and dig the fields and move mountains and put rivets in our dreams.

A reader contributed this item: "Once upon a time men worked and saved their money with the idea that they eventually could have the things that other men had. Today, the feeling seems to be that a man must have all these things -- a lot of other things, too -- before he will even consider going to work."

"I think it was a coming into the White House of a group of men who had many abilities," political scientist James MacGregor Burns reflects of the Watergate crisis in The Wall Street Journal, "but who had no guiding vision. There was no great purpose that informed these people. There have been all sorts of crises and all sorts of compromises and concessions and weaknesses in the presidency in the past. For example, under Franklin Roosevelt. But with Presidents like Roosevelt and Kennedy and others, there was always a kind of guiding objective they kept in mind. And I think the people in the White House found themselves without such a vision. The only vision was service to the President and helping him realize his ambitions. And I think when you don't have this kind of guiding vision, all sorts of other practical and impractical things come into operation, and people lose their way."

NEW YORK (AP) — Courtship makes the courtier. Marriage makes the husband.

When they first met, he swore he would fight through seas of flame to be at her side. After they were married, he cursed aloud if she handed him a piece of hot toast at breakfast.

He used to want to tell her with every breath he took how much he loved her. Now he probably couldn't think of the word love if he needed it to fill out a crossword puzzle.

There was a time when he couldn't keep his hands off her. But that was before they made the trip to the altar. Now if he reaches toward her, she wonders whether she should call the cops or a neighbor for help.

Before they exchanged their marital vows, he told her he wouldn't mind if they had more children than the old woman who lived in a shoe. Well, they stopped coming after four, and now when he comes home from work, he puts wax stoppers in his ears so he can't hear the kids.

Fondly she dreamed of dining by candlelight with him for the rest of their lives. Then he found out that two candles cost 49 cents, and now they eat by the light of a 60-watt bulb.

She remembers fondly how she used to cuddle in his lap for hours at a stretch. Now if she has to sit in his lap for a few moments in a crowded car coming home from a cocktail party, he welcomes her by exclaiming gaily, "All right, folks, make room for the elephant."

When they were courting they never spoke of politics. But now if she votes for the same political candidate as he does, he accuses her of having no mind of her own and mimicking him. But if she votes for a different candidate, he says she is stupid and women shouldn't have the right to vote anyway.

In his days as a romantic gallant, he rushed to take the lightest package from her arms and told her she was far too fragile to carry heavy loads. Now, when they are shopping, he hands her all the bundles, and lets her go first through the revolving doors — so she has to do most of the pushing.

Is this the guy who once promised her the moon? It is. And is it the same guy who now whines about the waste of money if she orders a 60-cent dessert on the one night a month they eat out? It is, indeed.

All in all, she realizes, their life together isn't too bad. She knows she can put up with him, but he has changed so much from the sweet boy she once knew that she wonders if she is at fault.

But she isn't to blame at all. The essential truth is:

Courtship makes a courtier; marriage changes him into a husband.

YES, CRIMINALS DO A SHODDY JOB

Here's a new slant on the crime problem:

The reason people don't feel safe in their own neighborhoods any more has nothing to do with the increase in crime, submits one Ira Mothner.

"It has to do, instead, with the shameful decrease in professionalism among criminals — or more precisely, the entry of unskilled workers into the criminal callings."

Writing in Intellectual Digest — with tongue well up in cheek — Mothner notes that as more and more jobs demand credentials, the unemployed and minimally schooled face a solid wall of requirements in the form of degrees, certificates and licenses.

"A proliferation of professional, semiprofessiona and simply self- protective syndicates — boards, associations, unions and the like — restricts the plucking of their particular pigeons to duly elected, selected or qualified members ... Just about everybody is licensed to steal — except thieves."

And that is exactly what we need to do, says Mothner — license thieves and credential criminals, if we hope "to raise the professionalism in these fields."

Nobody, he notes, trusts just anybody with a sharp knife to open up an abdomen. We check our surgeons carefully, insisting that they be credentialled. But we permit any lout to mug us. And then we wonder why so many people get hurt, why the streets aren't safe.

"It's because," he says, "all those unqualified louts are practicing a trade for which they are simply unprepared."

Mothner is weary of all the complaints that our prisons have become "crime academies." The trouble, in his opinion, is that they haven't. Criminals are returning to crime as poorly prepared as when they left it.

What he proposes is some "real job training" for those who have chosen the criminal trades, an opportunity to move out of low- yield high- risk undertaking into more profitable and more acceptable ones.

"Let the prisons do the job they are capable of doing — training criminals, turning clumsy muggers into adequate burglars, safecrackers, forgers and the like. In time this would come close to eliminating individual, violent crime and our streets would be safe to walk again."

Our homes, of course, would be somewhat less secure, he admits. But the federal government could underwrite burglary insurance as an investment in safer streets or as a subsidy for the criminally self- employed.

The current disorganized system of "fences" could be replaced with government - franchised "hot shops," each handling merchandise acquired in a specific area. The victim of a burglary would need only to go to his local shop, identify the missing valuables, fill out insurance forms and depart with his tape recorder, TV, deep freeze or whatever.

Professionalizing crime would also raise the income of the average criminal's family, keeping it off welfare, argues Mothner. With the rise of criminal professionalism, police would arrest fewer culprits and as a result the courts would be less croweded.

Convicted criminals would still do time, but their crime would be a failure of competence rather than morality. Their prison terms would be regarded as further professional training.

As noted, it's all tongue- in - cheek. Or is it?

CONSUMERS NEED TO KNOW

"Sensible shopping makes cents" is a good motto to keep in mind whenever you make a purchase, according to Virginia Kanuer, director of the U. S. Office of Consumer Affairs. In an open letter in"Consumer News," she cites another good motto, "Comparison shopping makes sense," as a particularly wise one to follow when you are trying to feed a family within a food budget.

A good example is a test case made by the First National City Bank of New York. Two shoppers were sent to the same supermarket with the same grocery list. One was to compare prices when she made a selection, while the other was not. The result was $11.18 difference in their grocery bills. The comparison shopper paid $25.12 for similar items that cost the other shopper $36.30.

Mrs. Knauer points out that comparison shopping involves making five decisions based on comparisons.

1. Compare your own menu possibilities. For example, chicken with dumpings vs. spaghetti with meatballs, or squash vs. eggplant.

2. Compare prices. Use the unit pricing concept which compares price per ounce, quart or pound rather than just the whole container, package or loaf.

3. Compare size. Consider your needs and storage facilities. Large economy size vs. small, or half gallon vs. pint, or dozen vs. six. You gain nothing if the larger size spoils before using it.

4. Compare convenience. Grated cheese vs. a package you grate at home; chicken parts vs. a whole chicken to cut up at home.

5. Compare brands. In a Washington store, two bags of identical groceries but different brands were purchased. One cost $9.68 while the other cost $8.47.

You may choose to buy more expensive brands occasionally, but later on balance your budget with less expensive items.

DISRUPTING THE MARKETPLACE

The utter impossiblity -- at least over the long run -- of overseeing by government fiat the billions of transactions between private citizens in the marketplace with any degree of fairness becomes increasingly evident.

One of the latest examples is a government ruling that retail merchants cannot drop the giving of trading stamps unless they pass the value of the stamps onto their customers by lowering prices of their merchandise. Spokesmen for the trading stamp industry noted that other promotions that are less visible -- such as free delivery, giveaways, air conditioning, more checkouts, parking lots and weekend specials -- can be reduced or cut out similarly, but cannot be policed in relation to price controls. A representative from one trading stamp company commented, "The ... ruling might suggest, for the sake of consistency, that the dropping of any promotional attractions should also call for some kind of corresponding reduction in price. The ... requirement that a discount (be given) equal to the merchandise value of trading stamps may be especially difficult for a retailer which wishes to change its promotional mix by dropping stamps. While its revenue would be decreased, its expenses would not necessarily be decreased by the same amount. At the same time it has given up the sales appeal of a trading stamp service that had provided greater volume, which in turn allowed it to pay the cost of trading stamps and maintain competitive prices."

Freezing the patterns of promotion can eventually disrupt a marketing process that has been closely attuned to competitive requirements and consumer needs -- a process that does more to guarantee fair prices than any man - made bureaucratic contrivance can ever devise.

A NEW WORLD OF ENERGY

It should be evident, beyond doubt, that abundant energy is the basis of cilivization. Therefore, ways must be found to produce that energy in a manner compatible with those irreplacable resources, air, land and water. Utility leaders know that today's methods for generating and transmitting electricity must be supplemented, on an ever- increasing scale, with new technology power generation over the next 30 years.

Mr. Lelan F. Sillin, Jr., chairman and president of Northeast Utilities, a New England electric power system, has proposed a broad- based $40 billion electric industry research and development program to bridge the gap between today's methods of generating electricity and an unlimited, pollution - free source of electricity for tomorrow. Mr. Sillin, who is also chairman of the Federal Power Commission Executive Advisory Committee, feels that the actions of the electric industry, in implementing a program to develop unlimited, pollution - free electric power, "will probably determine as much as any other factor just what the worl;on the other side of our present chaos will look like."

Mr. Sillin's proposal includes an immediate accelerated program to develop a breeder nuclear reactor s a power source for the years immediately ahead. He urges technological advances toward the development of fuel cells, major underground power transmission capabilities and other intermediate term power supply methods. Mr. Sillin believes the development of a new energy technology is virtually a life- and- death matter because, "If the nation becomes power limited, society's search for realizing its self- potential and self-fulfillment cannot be achieved." In plain words, if there is to be a future for the United States, there must continue to be energy -- and plenty of it.

STRENGTH THROUGH DEFENSE

Much has been made of the fairly recent overtures of friendship and detente coming out of Russia and Red China. Some of our leaders believe that great strides have been made to overcome the vast differences of the communist and free worlds. Before we of Republic USA assume that the world has arrived at the millenium, we should reflect in the past record of the communist regime.

Russia and China represent the brains and powerhouses of international communism which has sought methodically to destroy freedom. The Bolshevik regime in Moscow was born in murder. Since the end of World War II, it has broken friendship pacts and supplanted them with aggression and domination. One only has to look at the map of central Europe to find the evidence.

Red China was involved in direct aggression in Korea and indirect aggression in Indochina. Its agents of subversion are active around the world, including in the United States. Peking's strength still lies in the barrel of a gun.

If the citizenry of the U. S. demands of its leaders that we have a defense posture second to none, there will be peace in the world. We must shore up those defenses in a hurry, however. Some neutral observers say the U. S. has fallen behind in naval strength. Our Air Force needs overhauling. Our strategic missiles may be inferior to those of Russia even now. Drastic measures in filling the gap should be initiated now. HLH

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Poignant Letters From Imprisoned Waterbuggers

WASHINGTON — The four Cubans who were caught inside the Watergate in the crime that has rocked the nation have written some poignant letters from prison.

Although they were recruited to do the dirty work and then were abandoned behind bars, their letters aren't bitter.

"All things considered," wrote Bernard Barker to his daughter, Maria Elena Moffett, "we are all pretty damn lucky people."

Another Watergate prisoner, Frank Sturgis, wrote to his wife Janet: "I've been thinking of you constantly and dream of you always. Keep your chin up baby. Things will somehow work out."

RELUCTANT

The letters were shown to us by friends of the four. Although Barker and Sturgis were reluctant to let the world read their personal sentiments, they gave us permission to quote from the letters.

Barker, for instance, called upon Watergate ringleader E. Howard Hunt inside the White House and came away with the impression that the Watergate breaking and the earlier Los Angeles burglary of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office were national security assignments.

Afterwards, the Cubans wound up in prison while those who plotted the Watergate crimes remained free.

Yet on Father's Day, Barker wrote to his daughter and her husband: "If you are lucky and wise, you will be of those selected few that will know real happiness in life. Your mother and I have it, and you two have it now and should have it more than us because you don't argue the way we do."

SPECIAL SMILE

Again on August 24, he wrote to his daughter in Spanish: "I have always been proud of you, but now I walk around with a special smile on my lips since now it also includes your husband ..."

He concluded the letter with this rueful apology: "Well, my love, receive all the love from your problematic progenitor, a relic of a problematic generation that has been unable to give more than what it has and that can only distribute its problems."

Sturgis wrote hopefully to his wife about a visit from Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., one of the Senate Watergate committee. "I think he wants to help us somehow. I hope so! He may come back to see us again," wrote Sturgis.

He explained to the senator, Sturgis told his wife, how "the CIA trains men to infiltrate industries past their security guard and if caught, say nothing because someone will make contact and ball us out and if anything happens, it is common knowledge that your family will be taken care of.

HUNT WAS CHIEF

"No one spoke to us about that, but our chief was Howard (Hunt) -- ex-CIA official and White House aide. We thought it was gov. operation and it may still be one."

The senator "feels that the three of us took orders from Macho (Barker) and thinks Macho is holding back," related Sturgis. "We three do not know if that is so but the Sen. has an idea that he may know something on that order."

Hunt was taken away to testify on August 16. Reported Sturgis to his wife: "Howard has not returned as yet. Everybody thinks he is talking his butt off. If he is, he can only help us and not hurt us."

But Sturgis wound up cheerfully: "We still may win this yet. Keep the faith, honey! I love you always."

BUCKLEY'S CIA ROLE

Perhaps the most fascinating reference was to columnist William Buckley.

"I don't know if I told you before," Sturgis wrote to his wife, "but William F. Buckley used to work for CIA and I don't know if he still does. When he found out that Howard (Hunt) was going to work in the White House, he told Howard it was good that he could be so close to the President but Howard told him that he was there to take orders and not to influence anyone.

"That was a good answer! I'm not clear whether this is what Howard or Buckley really said!!"

Reached for comment, Buckley frankly admitted he was a "deep cover agent" for the CIA from July 1951 to March 1952, but said he had not worked for them since. He declined to say what his CIA role was.

Reluctant Regulator: When Charles King Mallory, a young New Orleans lawyer, was named as the Interior Department's power resources chief, Interior's publicity mill ground out a press release praising him for his dedication to "public utility ..., securities regulation (and) antitrust" activities.

The implication was clear that the Administration at last had found a consumer advocate to ride herd on the energy moguls.

In fact, the new deputy assistant secretary is not a consumer lawyer at all but one who represented Louisiana Power and Light which is charged in consumer suits with antitrust violations and conspiring against consumers.

Although several of Mallory's other clients were also lined up against the consumers, Mallory assured us that his publicity men "had no intention to mislead" in their handout to him.

Inside Labor

Auto City Besieged: Mysterious Ultra-Violent Neo-Maoist Gangs Smashing Through Big Cities.

DETROIT — To paraphrase an old advertising slogan --- there's a "Nunchaku" in the auto industry's future and wherever there are teeming masses earning their daily bread in crowded cities. The Nunchaku is an import. But not a car. A weapon, rather. It's right out of Okinawan karate.

And it's being used by a new, virtually unnoticed, unreported revolutionary action network of young people, well dressed and positively well trained militarily.

Insiders know it as the National Caucus of Labor Committees (NCLC). It's so far to the left it makes Trotskyism seem like a flower power daisy-picking sect.

The NCLC is early Maoist in policy. Its action programming invokes the Nunchaku --- two sticks tied with a leather thong --- which can crack a skull or break an arm with the flick of a wrist. The NCLC has invaded at least one city council and attacked Communist Party bookstores and Marxist study centers so destructively that the Communists have called for police protection. The Neo-Maoists are so militant they have assaulted black followers of Imamu Amiri Baraka (Leroi Jones), spiritual leader of the Temple of Kawaida (Newark, N.J.).

Further, NCLC has invaded picket lines of such militant unions as David Livingston's Distributive Workers and is seeking new fields to crack.

For some time now, the NCLC leaders have had their eyes on and advance agents in this auto city. Here the big story up front, of course, has been Chrysler and the fact that the Ford Co. is next and General Motors follows.

There may be a hassle on the GM front where there is a big push for full and early retirement. They want 30 (years of work) and "out" -- meaning retirement at any age with full benefits. The company is not about to yield.

But the auto negotiations will take their usual road, so it's worth looking behind the scenes at a fantastic phenomenon --- a vicious new radicalism, a reckless new militancy wilder and more destructive than the SDS street squads of the '60s, many of whose leaders still live in unknown underground political warrens.

There are many neo-revolutionary factions seeking the support of ethnic minority workers in the big plants on a wide belt spread from New York west to Chicago, where the Revolutionary Union has its headquarters claiming cells in 17 cities.

There is the well-publicized Workers Action Movement (WAM) which is basically racial. It is allied with one sliver of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and, in common with the other self-proclaimed revolutionists, it seeks support for a program of 30 hours work for 40 hours pay ("30 for 40"), six-hour shifts for eight-hours' pay, and a host of other changes.

In common with the other neo-radical bands of these screaming '70s, it attacks official union leaders as "sellout artists" and calls for street action. Some units have seized plants, beat security officials with pipes and talked of a new socialism.

The appeal to the minorities is as blatant as it's patronizing. Chauvinistic wooing is aimed at black workers, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos and a surprisingly large number of Arab workers. Actually, some literature is printed in Arabic.

But it is the mysterious NCLC which is most virulent in its effort to seize industrial power. Its squads in the East move with military precision, usually with a concealed Nunchaku. They run an "Operation Mop-up" against the Communist Party, the Young Workers Liberation League, the National Welfare Rights Organization, the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party, Youth Against War and Fascism, and even the Black Panthers.

And these NCLC chiefs--- dissidents from the Communist party, veterans of the old SDS labor section --- have a new direction. They want to weld youth gangs of big city streets into one national storm trooper- style organization on the extreme left. And I mean extreme left. It's social revolutionary history book stuff.

As one of their leaders shouted to street- gang chiefs during a May 26 conference in New York's Commodore Hotel: "There's only one thing to do. Are you really mad enough to want to take it all? To take over this whole society? Well, if you are...have you got the guts to organize, to be disciplined? Are you angry enough to create a movement of millions across this country?"

Well, they won't get millions. But they need only handfuls of young men ready to smash things instead of shouting, as do the action movements here: "Strike the Big Three (auto companies--- VR) in '73." This new Left may dissolve like the old. But it will get rough and costly. Watch it.

Boss cuts toenails during dictation

Dear Ann Landers: I know I'll never see this letter in the paper because you have it in your head that homosexuals are sick and you print only those letters that make us look like a pack of miserable, wretched, limp- wristed, light-footed, wand- carrying, screaming fags. You repeatedly advise homosexuals to "seek counseling, get therapy, stop hating yourself"--- more rubbish, more nonsense, blah blah.

I am a homosexual, male, age 35, well- adjusted and happy. I've never been in trouble with the law, have an excellent business and have had the same lover for eight years. We enjoy a far better relationship (certainly more faithful) than most of the married people we know. I wouldn't trade my life for anything. I'm content and at peace with myself. My only regret is that I wasted so many years trying to cover up by dating stupid, boring women.

I have no need for a shrink, so please stop trying to send me to one.--- The Good Life In San Francisco

Dear Good Life: You are a rarity whether you know it or not.

Most closet queens are not content and at peace with themselves--- nor are they faithful to one lover. They are tortured, miserable and lonely and would give anything in the world to be straight.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for that complaining secretary whose boss takes off his shoes during dictation and cracks his toes. She said it drives her crazy.

At this moment MY boss is cutting his toenails and I am trying to take dictation. I will tape a few toenail clippings to this letter to prove it.--- Railing In Raleigh

Dear Railing: Readers have sent me samples of pot, pills, hair and even insects for identification, but this is the first time I have ever received toenail clippings. Who was it that said, "If you live long enough, eventually you'll see everything"?

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding the physician who told his wife about women patients who made passes at him and she spread the word to her bridge club: He should re-read this portion of the Hippocratic Oath which he swore to uphold when he entered the practice of medicine:

"Whatsoever in my practice, or not in my practice, that I see or hear amid the lives of men which ought not to be noised about, I will keep silent, and hold such things as unfitting to be spoke."-- Mrs. C. of Vancouver

Dear Mrs. C.: It's a noble philosophy for social conduct, not only for physicians, but for all of us. Thank you for sharing.

Cheerleader clinic to be held Sept. 26

JONESBORO, Ark.--- Arkansas State University's annual one- day fall cheerleaders clinic has been set for Sept. 26, Mrs. Gladys Hudgins, director of the clinic, announced today.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. in Indian Field House, and the program will start at 9 a.m. and concluded at 3:30 p.m.

The staff for the clinic will be picked by the National Cheerleader Association, and ASU's cheerleaders will serve as hosts for the event.

Some of the areas which will be taught include routines, crowd psychology, pep rallies, bonfires, parades, chants, novelty yells and songs.

Each participant should wear gym shoes and either a uniform or gym clothes, according to Mrs. Hudgins. Each person will be responsible for her own lunch. However, cheerleaders may eat in Woodlands Cafeteria in the Reng Center.

"We are not sending brochures or application forms to squad sponsors this year, but all schools are invited and there is no limit to the number of participants per school," Mrs. Hudgins said.

THE IMPORTANCE OF LOCATION

Any Realtor will tell you that the three most important factors concerning the value of a house are: "Location, Location, and Location." Unfortunately, most home buyers ignore this important advice.

Location is especially vital when buying a house for maximum resale value. Statistics say that you will be reselling your home long before the final mortgage payment is in the mail. Therefore, take a long, hard look, not only at the present, but the future prospects for the community and immediate neighborhood.

Select a location where raw land and house values have an increasing price trend. Especially check into the zoning laws for any unfavorable change which could cause a depreciation in the value of the neighborhood and the resale price of your home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cummins

Miss Roemer bride of Mikel Stewart

DEXTER — Emanual Lutheran Church at New Haven, Ind., was setting for the candlelight service uniting Miss Sandra Esther Roemer and Mikel A. Stewart in marriage Aug. 18.

The Rev. Timothy Sims performed the double- ring ceremony, and Mrs. Barbara Johnson of New Haven, was organist, accompanying the soloist Miss Kathy Price of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Roemer of New Haven and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Stewart of Dexter are parents of the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an organza gown with Venise lace and a floor- length mantilla. She held a colonial bouquet of daisy pompons and roses.

Mrs. Donald Murphy of New Haven, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Kathy Taylor of New Haven, Mrs. DeWayne Shipman, sister of the groom, and Miss Kathy Price of St. Louis were bridesmaids. They wore mint green cotton voile gowns and held nosegays of pink roses and daisies.

John P. Jones of Dayton, Ohio, was best man, and groomsmen were Darrell Kirby and Garry Sides of Dexter and Dave Hueckel. Ushers were Sides and Donald Murphy.

A reception and dance were held at The Oaks, where Miss Jean Augenstein, Miss Becky Robinson, Mrs. Pat Lortie and Miss JoEllen Love served. Mrs. Rick Humbarger of Muncie, Ind., was at the guestbook.

Mrs. Stewart is a junior at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau majoring in elementary and special education. Stewart, a 1973 graduate of Southeast Missouri State is a teacher and assistant football coach at St. Vincent's high School in Perryville, where the newlyweds live at 22 Walnut St.

Models plan busy schedule

COLUMBUS, Miss. — Mississippi State College for Women's international modeling squad has been working overtime lately in preparation for a quickened pace of guest appearances, many scheduled before students returned for the 1973-74 school term.

Mrs. Grayce Hicks, director of MSCW's personal appearance department, announced that the modeling squad will participate in four major fashion shows this month, the first to take place for the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. Half the 40- member squad will perform at the chamber's annual banquet meeting.

On Sept. 16 a select group of six student models presented a fashion show for Hancock Textiles in Tupelo. Until this year, professional models from New York were engaged for the event.

Travelling to Tupelo from MSCW were Carolyn Covington of Kosciusko, Cheryl Covert and Patrice Box of Jackson, Anne Harper of Sikeston, Mo., Julia Mauldin of Huntsville, Ala., and Madelon Fisher of New Madrid, Mo.

The month's engagements for the modeling squad will conclude with two large-scale workshops coinciding on the MSCW campus. The first will be the annual Ray A. Furr public relations workshop Sept. 27 and two days later the pretty students will stage a style show as one entertainment highlight of a two- day workshop for 100 delegates and guests of Mississippi Press Women.

Models pose before tour

Judy Gregory, John Green exchange vows

RISCO-- Judy Story Gregory became the bride of John Green in a ceremony performed Sept. 7 at the home of the Rev. A. C. Gardner in Malden. The couple's only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirksey.

The bride is a senior at Southeast Missouri University at Cape Girardeau, and Green is the Risco High School principal. The couple will make their home in Risco.

A small wedding reception was held Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. O. T. Story. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Evans and Mr. and Mrs. William VanPelt Jr. and sons of Cape Girardeau; Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirksey and family; and the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. John Green.

Volleyball sessions offered

The adult education department of Sikeston High School is offering a women's volleyball session in the girl's gym at the high school.

Sessions are held each Monday and Thursday night from 7 to 9 p.m.

Women interested in learning how to play, improve their game, or who just want to join the group for the exercise and fun are welcome.

A minimal fee will be collected at the beginning of each session.

Bazaar and transportation are discussed

BELL CITY-- The Bell City Senior Citizen's Club met recently at the DAEOC Center with 22 present.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Gertis Mason. Mrs. Ethel Limbaugh, Mrs. Beatrice Carter and Mrs. Pearl Shepherd gave inspiring readings, and John McBride gave a short devotional, taking his text from the book of Romans.

Following the devotional, those present enjoyed a potluck luncheon.

Mrs. Flossie Gregory, president, called the business meeting to order. Paul Barks, Delta Area Economic Opportunity Center coordinator, was asked to speak to the group concerning the planning of another senior citizen's bazaar like one held last year in Sikeston.

He also explained the Older American Transportation System that is being undertaken in a 27-county area, known as Southeast Missouri Transportation, Inc. He stated that as more is learned about this program, he will give the club what information he receives.

Barks also discussed the possibility of organizing a kitchen band.

Mrs. Gregory opened the floor for nominations for secretary- treasurer to fill the position vacated by Mrs. Goldie Drew. Mrs. Rosa George was elected.

Discussion was held by the club on new crafts and Mrs. C. G. Lemmons, AOC secretary, told the club that Mrs. Kay Cline had offered her services and would come and show some craft ideas and also give instruction to the club if this is desired. The club asked that Mrs. Cline be invited to the next meeting.

Following the business meeting, a short program was given. Mrs. Lizzie Ammons sang two songs, "The Last Mile of the Way" and "What Could I Do Without the Lord". Reed Chapman sang, "Where Could I Go", and Mrs. Lemmons read an original poem written by her son Thom titled "I Am The Way".

The next meeting will be Sept. 20 at the DAEOC Center.

Carbo lifts Birds

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie Carbo made a lot of people miserable Monday night with his St. Louis Cardinal teammates being notable exceptions.

Carbo smacked a game-tying homer and then slapped the game-winning single up the middle in the 12th inning as the Cardinals defeated the Montreal Expos 5-3 for a split of their doubleheader.

In the opener, a fluke single by Ron Woods in the bottom of the ninth inning gave Montreal a 5-4 victory.

The split left the second-place Expos one game behind Pittsburgh in the National League East race. The first-place Pirates whipped the New York Mets 10-3 Monday night. The Cards are third, 2½ games off the pace and a game in front of the fourth-place Mets.

Carbo's homer, his seventh of the year, came off reliever Chuck Taylor, an ex-Cardinal.

"I wasn't thinking homer when I stepped up because I was leading off the inning. When I hit it, because of the wind, I thought Ken Singleton might have a shot at it. I thought, gad, that's my best shot, it had better get out."

The teams then battled through two scoreless extra innings and the Cardinals had runners on first and second with one out when it started to rain.

After a 72-minute delay, play resumed.

Montreal reliever Mike Marshall fanned Joe Torre and then, Carbo got his hit.

Winning pitcher Eddie Fisher, who pitched two innings of scoreless relief, also got a runscoring hit to put the game out of reach.

Montreal had jumped to a 3-0 lead by the third inning on Pepe Frias' sacrifice fly in the second and Hal Breeden's 15th homer—a two out, two-run shot in the third.

Joe Torre smacked a two-run double in the sixth and there was no further scoring until Carbo's homer.

In the first game, the Cardinals blew it when Woods lofted a lazy pop up that landed among four Cardinal fielders between the mound and the plate as the winning run scored.

"It was the nicest hit of my career," said Woods. "It was probably the shortest too."

Chaffee blanked

PERRYVILLE — The Indians of St. Vincent scored an impressive victory over the Red Devils of Chaffee here Saturday night. The final statistics and score, 21-0, reflect the strength of the Indian's offene and defense.

St. Vincent scored on 73 and seven yard runs by Eddie Sigmund and a two yard run by quarterback Scott Beason. Sigmund was the leading ground gainer with 176 yards, followed by Beason with 109 yards.

Chaffee was able to make four first downs while amassing 70 yards rushing and 30 yards running, completing two of six passes. They were penalized twice for 20 yards. They punted five times for a 26 yard average and turned the ball over twice on fumbles.

St. Vincent had 14 first downs, rushed for 342 yards, and completed one out of five passes for 11 yards. They were penalized five times for 55 yards. They punted once for 28 yards and fumbled only once.

Strategy conference

Sikeston high school's defensive signal caller, Roy Bowman, listens earnestly to the play coach Terry Smith is mapping out for him during last Friday's season opening match against the Farmington Knights. Coach Smith and his troops face the Perryville Pirates this Friday at Public School Stadium. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

MSHSAA taken to court

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A court order permitted Steve M. Smith, end, and Gary Dydell, tackle, to play football for Lafayette High School of St. Joseph Friday night even though they are 19 years old.

Smith caught four passes for 140 yards and two touchdowns and returned kicks for 60 yards as Lafayette upset Maryville 21-18.

The Missouri High School Activities Association has a rule barring 19- year - olds from playing. Smith and Dydell, who were set back by illness and injury in grade school and junior high years, protested that the rule would jeopardize their possible football careers because college scouts could not see them play.

Dogs lose

Sikeston high school gridiron athletes are still searching for the schools first victory of the 1973 season after the Jackson Indians spoiled the junior varsity debut Monday night at Public School Stadium, 30-6.

The SHS Bulldogs, losers of their opening varsity match against Farmington last Friday, 13-7, face an even formidable opponent in the Perryville Pirates this week in a Northern Division league clash.

Jackson used an impressive ground game to roll over the Dogs. Sikeston's only score came on a 50 yard pass play from Tom Luber to Ron Priday.

Jesse Smith, one of the premier runners for the 1972 Bulldog team, has been added to the roster after reporting late. The speedster should aid the Dogs offense.

Coach Terry Smith has made some offensive and defensive changes for this week's encounter with his former pupils. Shane Wagoner was moved to offensive guard, John Farris will take over the defensive end slot, Curtis Bonds has moved to defensive tackle and John Ralph will be at offensive center. Kenny Dement will be out of action this week, due to an injury. His replacement has not been made.

DHS loses star

In Southern Division football action last Friday night, one major injury was reported. Coach Clyde Vaughn of Dexter reported to the Daily Standard that the Bearcats may have lost a starter for the season. Robin Lemons, one of Dexters 11 returning lettermen, reinjured a knee in last Friday nights game against the Jackson Indians. This will leave an open spot in the offensive line to be filled by Friday night when the Bearcats will travel to Portageville to face the Bulldogs. Coach Vaughn hopes to take a much improved ball team to Portageville this Friday after their loss to Jackson last week.

After a fine game against the Kennett Indians the Malden Green Waves are recovering from the usual bruises that accompany a football game. Coach Stewart said that it would take a tough ball team to beat the Jackson Indians and he thought his team was sharp enough to do just that.

Portageville's head coach, Jim McKay, reported one injury that resulted from last weeks game. Dennis Williams received an ankle injury but would be ready for action this week against Dexter.

Coming from a win over South Pemiscot, the Hayti Indians was left with one injured player, according to Coach Jerry Cecil. Offensive Guard Jim Davis received a twisted knee in the game. Hayti will be facing the Caruthersville Tigers in conference play this weekend.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California again is the No. 1 team in the Associated Press college football poll. That's no surprise, since the Trojans have owned the top spot since the first week of 1972.

What is surprising is the capricious reaction of Southern Cal's coach, John McKay.

"I don't know or care whether we're rated No. 1 next week," he said Saturday night after the Trojans had recorded a 17-0 victory over Arkansas in their opener. "I didn't even think we should have been No. 1 last week."

McKay changed his line Monday, saying that USC deserves the top spot. A poll of 60 sports writers and broadcasters who participated this week gave the Trojans 38 first-place votes and a total of 1,106 points.

But Nebraska, Ohio State and Alabama, the next three ranked teams, will be out to challenge Southern Cal as the college football season enters its second week.

Henry bombs away

ATLANTA (AP) — Hammerin' Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves picked a nasty night before a tiny crowd that included the baseball commissioner to lower the magic number to three in his chase of Babe Ruth's all-time home run record.

Aaron, a 39-year-old star building a legend of his own, smashed No. 711 of his career off San Diego's Gary Ross in the eighth inning of Atlanta's 70 victory over the Padres Monday night.

"I still have a shot," Aaron said of his bid to pass the immortal Ruth this year. "Yep, it enhances my chances."

A crowd of only 1,362—lowest in the eight years the Braves have been in Atlanta—saw Aaron take another stride in his relentless chase. A steady shower was still pelting the infield tarpaulin less than 30 minutes before game time.

However, included in the sparse gathering was Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who had come to Atlanta to officially invite Aaron to throw out the first ball at the 1973 World Series. Also on hand were Aaron's father, Herbert, and his brother, Tommie, manager of the Braves' farm team at Savannah.

"You're a show off," Kuhn told Aaron as the two met in Braves' Manager Eddie Mathews' office to have a picture made with Dave Johnson, the Atlanta infielder who cracked his 42nd home run later in the eighth inning to tie the record for most homers in a season for second basemen set by Rogers Hornsby in 1922.

"I thought it was going foul for a while," Aaron said of his 38th homer this year. "It was a slider that didn't break. It just stayed inside. Those are the kind that usually tail off foul. If there had been any kind of wind, it probably would have blown it out foul."

It was Aaron's 11th straight home run off a righthanded pitcher since he cracked No. 700 on July 21 against southpaw Ken Brett of Philadelphia.

Atlanta has only 10 games remaining this season, six of which will be played in Atlanta Stadium where Aaron now has 178 home runs.

The winners will reign over Matthews Fall Festival festivities Thursday,, Friday and Saturday.

The fall festival will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday with a kiddie parade. A larger parade will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Drawings will be held each night of the festival. Thursday night a chain saw will be given away, Friday a tape player and Saturday a boat trailer and motor.

Meat stolen from freezer

The theft of meat from a home freezer sometime between Aug. 22 and Aug. 29 was reported to police Monday.

G. H. Hopper, 212 Powers, told police that someone took a 14- pound ham, 11 chickens and 12 steaks from a freezer located in the carport. Hopper said the thief left the freezer door open, causing the motor to burn up and the remaining items to spoil.

Possible illegal aliens discovered

ROCK PORT, Mo. (AP) — A routine car check on U.S. 136 near Rock Port, in extreme northwest Missouri Monday evening resulted in the arrest of 19 persons believed to be Mexican nationals illegally in the country, and a Chicago man who was with them.

There were 10 Mexicans inside the two cars, then 9 more were found hiding in the two car trunks when the cars were taken to the Atchison County jail here.

Cpl. Fred Kling of the highway patrol said the aliens were being held for immigration officials, who were expected to take them to Kansas City. In the meantime, troopers ordered 80 pieces of chicken and six loaves of bread for the men.

Kling said the men told of crossing the Mexican border near El Paso, Tex. They said they were on the way to Chicago work. He said the men apparently took turns riding in the trunks.

Officers said the Mexican nationals would likely be sent home by immigration officials, but the Chicago man may be held in connection with transporting the illegal aliens, a federal crime.

3 of sextuplets having respiratory defficulties

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Three of the six children born Sunday night to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stanek were experiencing respiratory problems today and were being administered increased doses of oxygen, hospital officials said.

Doctors were optimistic that the sextuplets, which weighed just under two pounds to just under three pounds at birth, will survive.

At 9 a.m. today hospital officials said three of the four boys were in satisfactory condition. They said the two girls and one of the boys were in fair or fair to satisfactory condition, and were experiencing respiratory problems. They were born about six weeks prematurely.

All six children are in incubators. Officials said the three in satisfactory condition were breathing with the help of little or no oxygen being added to their environment, while the others were being given increased doses of oxygen.

A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Stanek had entered the hospital about four weeks ago so that doctors could keep her under observation and adminster relaxants to delay delivery as long as possible. The spokesman said she had been administered ethyl alcohol intravenously to suppress premature contractions.

Mrs. Stanek's husband was reported looking for another house, one larger than their present three-bedroom home to handle the couple's new arrivals.

"We'd known for about three weeks that there might be five or six," said Stanek, a 31-year-old accountant. "We're all very happy.

"We were hoping for a second child. We didn't really plan for having more than one at a time."

He said Mrs. Stanek was taking a fertility drug, Pergonal, prior to the births. Stanek said he and his wife are expecting the six infants to join their young son Gregory at home in six weeks.

Stanek said he and his wife are concerned about paying "thousands of dollars" in medical expenses that won't be covered by insurance, and he said he plans to look for a house with more room than his current three-bedroom home.

One boy remained unnamed because Stanek said he and his wife had chosen names for three boys and three girls. The five named are, in order of birth, John, Julia, Steven, Jeffrey and Catherine.

On the opening, wheat was 1 to 7 cents a bushel lower, September 5.30; corn was 2½ to 5¾ lower, September 2.60; oats were 3 lower to 3 higher, September 1.30 and soybeans were unchanged to 13 lower, September 6.42.

Bean demonstration meetings scheduled

BLOOMFIELD — Two soybean demonstration meetings will be held in Stoddard County Thursday, the University of Missouri Extension Center in Bloomfield announced today.

One meeting will be held at the Bob Lowrey farm near Parma at 9:30 a.m.

Research demonstration plots pertaining to the use of soil fumigation as a means of controlling soybean cyst nematode, including various methods of application, will be shown and discussed by Dr. Charles Baldwin, plant pathologist at the University of Missouri Delta Center at Portageville, who is conducting these studies.

Soybean variety trials being conducted by Dr. James Ford, soybean breeder at the Delta Center, including lines being developed for the resistance of Race 4 soybean cyst nematode will also be shown and discussed by Dr. Ford.

In addition, Joe Scott, state extension agronomy specialist at the Delta Center, will discuss preharvest sprays for soybeans, grain sorghum and cotton.

The Lowrey farm is located on Route Z, just west of the junction with Highway 153, four miles north of Parma.

The other meeting will be held at the George Hampton farm near Dudley at 1:30 p.m. Soybean variety trials being conducted on this farm will be shown and discussed by Dr. Ford. Scott will also discuss preharvest sprays for soybeans, grain sorghum and cotton at this farm.

The Hampton farm is located on Route F, just north of the junction with Highway 60, approximately five miles west of Dexter.

All farmers and other interested persons may attend the meetings.

P'ville council hires St. Louis policeman

PORTAGEVILLE — In a special meeting Monday, the city council hired John Stevens Jr. of Route Three as a police officer to replace Andy Knotts who resigned Sunday. Stevens is currently on the St. Louis police force and will assume his duties within two weeks.

Following a request by Roy Hurley, a six- year veteran officer who also resigned, the council agreed to reinstate Hurley on the force.

Knotts and Hurley reportedly quit the force after strong complaints were made against them by the mayor and city council for failure to enforce traffic ordinances.

In other action, the council approved an ordinance for acceptance of a plat covering a new 9.19 acre residential subdivision, known as workman addition, west of McArthur Street.

An ordinance was passed requiring bicycles which are ridden after dark on city streets to have regular lights and not just reflectors.

The council also passed an ordinance regulating cutting into streets for installation of water and sewer lines. A minimum deposit of $25 on blacktopped or paved streets, $15 for gravel streets and $10 for dirt surfaces will be required before streets may be cut for as much as a 10- foot length. Any cutting over 10 feet will be charged an extra $2.50 for blacktopped or paved streets, $1.50 for gravel and $1 for dirt streets.

A special meeting scheduled for tonight to open bids for proposed water plant improvements has been rescheduled for Sept. 25, due to illness of the consulting engineer.

Trial date set for Foster

Trial was set on Oct. 9 for Mark Allen Foster of Sikeston today in Magistrate Court on an Aug. 6 charge of making a false report about a stolen automobile to a Sikeston police officer.

The case was one of seven heard by Judge Lloyd Briggs in Magistrate Court proceedings this morning in the Sikeston City Courtroom.

Scott McClain of Bloomfield, charged with trying to defraud Leonard's Shell Service, pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Oct. 2.

An attorney was appointed to represent Frances Sue McCune of Sikeston on charges of stealing personal property from Mi-Lady's Boutique.

A case against Russell Montjoy of Sikeston was continued until Sept. 25 on a Sept. 9 charge of attempting to break into Ziegler's Superette.

The court appointed an attorney to represent Wyley R. Kimbrough and Demetra Baker of Divernon, Ill., on charges of stealing personal property from El Capri Motel.

An attorney was also appointed to represent Terry Markland on a Sept. 11 charge of stealing an automobile owned by John Sides of Sikeston.

A hearing was set on Sept. 25 on a motion to set aside a careless and imprudent driving charge against Jerry Glen Bartle of Newburg.

Stolen loot recovered

RISCO — A stereo set and window fan, stolen Monday afternoon in a break-in at the Donald Williamson home three miles south of Risco, were recovered from an adjoining field behind the house.

New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Bo Wingo said apparently the items were left in the field as the thieves made a hasty departure when Williamson returned home from work about 5 p.m.

Williamson called the sheriff's department when he discovered the break-in and Deputy Wingo found the items in the field by following the tracks of the thieves.

UNSALTED FISH PLANNED

WASHINGTON (AP) — By diking off a portion of California's Salton Sea, a group of government and state scientists, engineers and civic leaders hope they will be able to keep the 450-square mile inland lake from getting so salty that fish can't survive in it.

By removing 5.5 million tons of salt a year from the 50-square-mile control area, the investigators figure they can restore the lake's chemical balance before irreparable harm is done.

The Salton Sea was formed between 1904 and 1907, when Colorado and Gila River flood waters broke through dikes and spread over the dry bed of an ancient lake. The fresh water soon absorbed salt from the ground, and more salt was added by irrigation runoff. The lake has been stocked with fish, but in a few years, scientists warn, their larvae will no longer be able to survive in the increasingly salty water.

California officials are now considering what action to take.

UAW pact termed 'precedent setting'

DETROIT (AP) — A weekly limit of 14 hours of mandatory overtime and retirement with full pension after 30 years on the job were keys to the agreement reached between the Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers.

If approved by 117,000 production workers at Chrysler, the agreement would end the nation's first major industrial strike of 1973. They walked out at midnight Friday when the old contract expired.

"In industrial union terms, it certainly is a breakthrough and precedent setting," UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Monday in announcing terms of the pact with the nation's No. 3 auto maker.

But his glowing statement was not echoed on the picket line outside a key Chrysler plant in Detroit.

"They're still telling us we have to work more than eight hours a day," said John Henderson, a welder at the Mack Avenue plant.

Under the agreement, an employe cannot be forced to work more than nine hours a day or more than six days a week.

Other major provisions of the three-year pact included wage hikes of just over five per cent in the first year and three per cent in the second and third years; more inspections of plants in a bid to make them safer; and an extra paid holiday, the day after Thanksgiving. Chrysler production workers now average $5.12 an hour.

The agreement also guarantees wage parity between Chrysler's U.S. and Canadian employes. Canadian workers now receive 11 cents an hour less.

The "30-and-out" retirement package carries no minimum age. It provides a pension boost of $50 monthly starting next March and a total $200 increase by Oct. 1, 1978. The current pension is $500. It also eliminates a provision in the current contract under which retirement benefits are reduced when a retiree becomes eligible for Social Security.

The tentative agreement does not cover the 10,500 UAW-represented white collar workers at Chrysler. Bargaining on an agreement for those employes continued.

Woodcock said he is certain production workers will not be back in the plants before next week because the UAW's contract ratification procedures will take at least that long.

The pact has been approved by the union's International Executive Board and the 13-member Chrysler bargaining team. It must be approved by the 200-member Chrysler Council before it is submitted to union locals for a vote by the rank and file.

Wilson man indicted in tractor case

WILSON, Ark. — A Wilson man has surrendered to federal authorities on charges contained in an indictment concerning the transportation of stolen farm tractors in the area, according to FBI agents in Jonesboro.

H. P. Cash surrendered voluntarily Friday to authorities and posted a $5,000 bond. The indictment, handed down Sept. 5, alleges Cash violated the federal code pertaining to interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle.

Cash is alleged on two counts to "have caused to be transported from Wilson, Ark., to Sikeston, Mo.," two John Deere tractors which were stolen from a Missco Implement Co. warehouse in Blytheville.

The vehicles were reported missing to Blytheville police on Jan. 17 and were recovered by the FBI on Jan. 23. One of the tractors was in the possession of a Sikeston farmer and the second was discovered at a Wilson implement company. The tractors allegedly stolen were a 4620 model diesel valued at $15,000 and a 4430 model costing $12,300.

Cash is scheduled to appear in U. S. District Court in Little Rock on Wednesday for arraignment, the FBI said.

Madrid native awarded $905 for suggestion

DALLAS, Tex. — John J. Robbins, a native of New Madrid, Mo., who served with the Army in Japan, has received a citation and an award of $905 for a suggestion proposing modifications to a computer program used by the Army throughout its Pacific commands.

The award was presented by Col. Frank A. LaBoon, deputy division engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers' Southwestern Division, at the request of the Army commanding general in Japan.

Robbins, who served three years in the Army, is now associated with Electronic Data Systems, headquartered in Dallas. He is being assigned by that company for duty in New York City.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Robbins of 1001 Scott St., New Madrid.

Dexter City Council approves low bid

DEXTER — The City Council Monday night approved the low bid submitted by Bridger Plumbing and Heating Co. of Sikeston for construction of four new sewage districts.

Another ordinance, calling for the paving of Poplar Street, was also passed.

Mayor Willis Conner, who recently underwent major surgery in New York, attended the meeting. Stricken while visiting relatives, he returned home Saturday.

A report was made to the council that the city has received a $200,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the city's water and sewage projects.

A brief discussion was held regarding a crosswalk on Walnut Street at Market Street for the safety of school children. A committee was appointed to study the matter.

Alderman Eldon Cooper submitted a petition signed by residents of West St. Francis Street requesting that an alley be constructed, beginning at the second block of West St. Francis. Conner appointed a committee to study the matter and report at the next meeting.

A license was granted to John Gray for a proposal pool room to be located at 14 E. South Main St.

The council met in special session following the regular meeting. Conner would not comment on the nature of the closed- door meeting.

Mo. contributions total $137,000

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missourians contributed around $137,000 to the Democratic national telethon Saturday night, Will Davis, executive director of the state Democratic party, said Monday.

The figure is unofficial and was based on reports from the two telephone banks in Kansas City and St. Louis, Davis said.

Some of the money was contributed by persons in Illinois and Kansas. Likewise, some Missourians contributed via television stations in Quincy, Ill., and Paducah, Ky., and Angeles.

The national party will credit the states according to zip codes on the contribution letters. Except for St. Louis and Jackson Counties, the state will split its proceeds 50-50 with the national party. St. Louis and Jackson counties, because of a previous agreement, will split their totals 50-50 with the national party.

Nationally, $5.3 million was pledged in the seven-hour telethon originating from Los

Mules shown at Fair

Bill Lewis of Sikeston shows a pair of three- year- old mules that took fourth place Saturday afternoon in the Southeast Missouri District Fair at Cape Girardeau in the miniature mule contest. The Sikeston mules were entered in the team hitch class. Lewis said the mules are named "Kit" and "Carolyn".

Hike to gain extra revenue

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The average residential customer will pay 39 cents more per month as a result of interim gas rate increases granted by the Missouri Public Service Commission to the Missouri Power and Light Co.

The rates, which go into effect Oct. 1, will raise $331,819 a year in extra revenue. The interim rate hike will be in effect until the public service commission completes hearings on the company's request for a permanent increase to raise revenue by $969,428 a year.

The increase was granted Monday. The PSC noted the company's profit on gas operations had declined rapidly.

In the company's previous gas rate case, it was allowed a return on equity (common stock) of 11.9 per cent, but for the year ending last June 30, the return was only 2.89 per cent. The return on equity for electricity was 11.6 per cent.

Scientist seeks flavor secret

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Some mouth- watering aromas are drifting from a University of Missouri laboratory, but even those responsible can't tell you if the experiments taste as good as they smell.

For the past couple of years, Dr. Milton Feather has headed a research project on the origin of flavor and aroma in food. The idea, basically, is to isolate, identify and produce compounds that would enhance the flavor and aroma of food.

If Feather and his colleagues are successful, beef flavor for instance could be added to a substance such as spun soy protein fibers. With a little processing expertise, the result would be a food that looks, tastes, smells and chews like meat.

"If we could isolate this compound and determine the precise mechanism by which it is produced when beef is cooked, we could greatly reduce the costs of producing certain types of foods," Feather says enthusiastically.

"About half the cost of packaged soups is the dried meat flavor they contain. If we could add a cooked- meat flavor to a dried soup preparation we could have something real palatable, although not necessarily nutritional."

The ultimate goal is to help processors produce less-expensive foods by adding the flavor- aroma compounds to food substances not generally considered appetizing but high in nutritional value.

Feather, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Chemistry, has been pursuing the flavor research project about four years, originally with funds from the university's agricultural experimental station.

Now he has two graduate students as fulltime assistants and a $40,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Feather says the value of the research is underlined by rising food costs, the trend toward more synthetic foods and flash- cooking processes. Similar study is under way elsewhere but Feather notes "neither the process nor the flavor has been perfected."

Philadelphia scientists have been able to isolate a compound known as cyclotene that is primarily responsible for the flavor and aroma of maple syrup. By using the synthetic in syrups and candies, Feather said, the maple flavor can be enjoyed without the high cost of maple syrup.

Researchers also have been able to isolate the compounds maltol and is omaltol, both produced by carbohydrates reacting with protein during heat treatment — or baking.

Federal food and drug officials and consumerists do not object to the sythesizing of the food and aroma constituents of bread crust, Feather says, "because we are simply enhancing the same flavor and aroma you'd get if the bread were produced under old- fashioned conditions.

"It is interesting to note that the flavor and aroma of most cooked foods are produced during cooking, and are not present prior to cooking," Feather said.

The total difference between the Newfoundland time zone in the east to the Yukon time zone in the northwest is 5½ hours.

VISIT: "GUN AND SMOKE SHOP" NEXT DOOR FOR LARGEST SELECTION OF GUNS & GIFTS

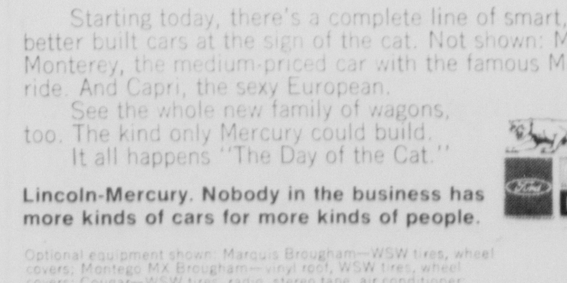

Cougar XR-7 In size, this new breed of Cougar is like Grand Prix and Monte Carlo. In every other way, it's like nobody else's car. Totally new for '74. New wide buckets, new dash with tachometer and hooded gauges mounted in deeply padded vinyl. Distinctive new Landau roof. Elegant opera window. Steel-belted radials. All standard.

FRIDAY IS THE DAY OF THE CAT

SEE ALL THE NEW 74's AT YOUR LINCOLN-MERCURY DEALER

Marquis Brougham
Today a great ride is just not enough. So we designed the '74 Marquis to be more economical to maintain. Gave it steel-belted radials, standard. And Marquis does not require premium gas.

Continental Mark IV
The Mark IV continues to be the most distinctive car of this decade. And offers a host of luxury features as standard equipment: AM/FM/MPX stereo radio, six-way power seats, Sure-Track anti-skid braking, plus new sophisticated insulation for an incredibly quiet interior.

Montego MX Brougham
This personal-size Mercury is designed to ride like a big car. On an extra-wide stance and the same type suspension system as Lincoln-Mercury's most expensive luxury car. But with the economy of a mid-size car.

Lincoln Continental
The smooth, comfortable ride and ease of handling of the Continentals continue to be one of the great achievements of the luxury car class. And all Continentals ride on steel-belted radial tires. Judge your car by our car.

Comet with Custom Option
Who says gas economy comes only in plain little cars? Even though Comet's stingy on gas, it's generous on luxury. Because this Comet's got a little Cougar in it. Now you don't have to give up luxury to get gas economy.

Starting today, there's a complete line of smart, new, better built cars at the sign of the cat. Not shown: Mercury Monterey, the medium-priced car with the famous Mercury ride. And Capri, the sexy European.

See the whole new family of wagons, too. The kind only Mercury could build.

It all happens "The Day of the Cat."

Lincoln-Mercury. Nobody in the business has more kinds of cars for more kinds of people.

Car backing from drive kills child

CARUTHERSVILLE — A 22- month - old toddler was fatally injured Sunday when he was run over by a car being backed out of the family's driveway by his father.

The young victim was identified as Thomas Lawrence Alexander Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Alexander, 810 Beckwith.

A spokesman for the Pemiscot County sheriff's department and Caruthersville police said the child was dead on arrival at Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti following the 12:35 p.m. accident.

The child's father reportedly had been working on the family car and backed the car out of the driveway, not realizing the toddler was in the vicinity.

The child's body was taken to German- Aumon Funeral Home in Steele.

Dunklin schools receive funds

KENNETT — Dunklin County has received the September apportionment from the state for county school funds, according to County Treasurer Tom Crunk.

Crunk said the check amounted to $1,269,810 and that the individual checks for the schools were mailed out today.

The amount mailed to each school district includes: Malden, $285,559; Campbell, $144,281; Holcomb, $90,576; Clarkton, $72,245; Senath-Hornersville, $198,180; Southland, $98,014; and Kennett, $380,335.

Arrested for improper exhaust

LAITY WANTS UNION

LONDON (AP) — Members of the Congregational Church in England and Wales have demonstrated that they "want unity and they want it now," says church educator Dr. John Marsh, following an overwhelmingly favorable vote on a plan for uniting with the Presbyterian Church of England.

Earl Kennison, a former resident of Sikeston, was probably fatally injured in East St. Louis last Thursday while he was at work in a building. He was helping to move a steel girder in a building when the beam came in contact with an electric wire. The resultant shock threw Kennison to the ground, breaking both his legs below the knees and injuring his spine.

Dr. Chester W. Limbaugh and Miss Ruth Arterburn were quietly married last Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents on Ruth street, with only the immediate relatives and a few close friends present.

Dr. W. E. Derris is getting his drug store well arranged at its new location in the new building on Front street.

A daughter was born on the 16th to Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Mason of Oran at the Delta Community Hospital.

Charleston-- Miss Pearl Clack, 55, died at her home here today after several weeks illness. She was a life-long resident and as a member of the city's school system, had taught for the past 11 years in the first grade at Mark Twain School.

Three more Sikeston High School girls are featured as candidates for "Miss Sikeston." They are: Miss Sue Watkins, Miss Myrtle Chism, and Miss Sue Wagley.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Morrow of Bertrand are parents of a daughter born yesterday at the Delta Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ziegler of Benton are parents of a daughter born Tuesday at St. Francis Hospital in Cape.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

Be rooted in him; be built in him; be consolidated in the faith you were taught; let your hearts overflow with thankfulness. (Colossians 2:7) PRAYER: Lord God, we thank You for sending us Jesus who loved us so much He died for us. Help us to keep our faith strong and our eyes always on Jesus and His cross. Amen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — You should know that it's illegal now to place radio transmitters on the backs of porpoises.

Who would want to do a thing like that? Tuna fishermen, that's who. They do it because porpoises chase tuna and if you can locate the porpoises easily, you can zero in easily on the tuna.

Since the Marine Animals Protection Act is intended to guard such beasts as porpoises, the National Marine Fisheries Service has slapped on the regulation, hoping that fewer porpoises will be entangled in fishnets.

Great Thaw

During the Ice Age, the greatest advance of ice sheets covered one-tenth of the earth's surface, or about 19.6 million square miles. Ice sheets now cover about 6 million square miles.

Rattlesnake killed

Hartle Chasteen of Vanduser holds a 54- inch rattlesnake which he killed Monday morning about four miles south of Benton. Chasteen said he was walking along a ridge between Benton and Oran about 8 a.m. when he stopped and looked down at his feet. The snake was coiled in some leaves near Chasteen's feet, but did not rattle. Chasteen killed the snake with a large stick. The snake had 11 rattlers. (Daily Standard Photo) legal difficulties in a Maryland probe of alleged political corruption.

The Post said the unnamed senior Republican it talked to had spent two hours with Agnew last week trying to talk him out of resigning, but was convinced that he had failed and that the vice president would resign.

Regional councils fight mandate

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The two southeast Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Councils have joined LEAC regions throughout the state in opposing a resolution to "mandate" regional funds for state level use.

The resolution was passed by the Missouri State Law Enforcement Assistance Council, which is headed by Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, at a meeting Thursday in Kansas City.

A member of the Region 8 Council, Gene Huckstep of Cape Girardeau, contends Danforth's "design to mandate regional LEAC funds is not only illegal by federal law but is a slap in the face to every judge, law officer, attorney and businessman on the 19 Missouri regional councils."

Region 8 covers seven Southeast Missouri counties. The Bootheel LEAC also opposes what is considered by the regional councils to be a funding grab.

The controversy between the regions and the state council has been growing since their May meeting but increased after Danforth, speaking in St. Louis the end of August, said, "The State Council should 'mandate' (command) the spending of regional money for specific programs believed to be beneficial to the regions."

"The state is in effect telling us that we are idiots and not capable of handling the LEAC funds the federal government has provided us to improve the criminal justice system at the local level," Huckstep said.

The Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 and the Crime Control Act of 1973 read, "The state is required to pass 75 per cent of the action grant funds down to local general purpose governments."

A federal document establishing guidelines for LEAC specifically reads, "It is illegal for the state to dictate that a portion of the local 75 per cent action money be used for state mandated programs to be administered at the regional level."

"Members of the regional councils are unanimously against this attempt by Danforth to expropriate funds that belong by law to the regions and the people in local communities," a regional council member said.

"We may be forced to go to court over the issue," he said. "It is a definite alternative but will only be used as a last resort.

"The LEAC program was designed to give not only money but responsibility to local governments because most of the problems of law enforcement are local problems," he said. "Any court action would tie up the program for a year and that would only hurt the people it is trying to help."

Ronald D. Bockenkamp of Bonne Terre, executive director for Region, said the resolution came from a priorities committee set up by Danforth, who was appointed chairman of the state council in January by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

"The measure passed with only my vote dissenting," Bockenkamp said. "I realize mine was a minority vote but I feel it represents the majority of opinion in the state.

A report on the way the mandated funds were to be allocated, backdated to Aug. 31, was officially presented by the priorities committee to the state council. Members of the committee were unaware of the report but it had been in the hands of individual state council members for over a week, Bockenkamp said.

"The state council was led to believe that the committee had met and the report was their recommendation, he said. The committee had, in fact, not met and the report came from Paul Lineberg, a member of the state staff from Jefferson City."

"Missouri is No. 2 in the nation in the effectiveness of its LEAC program," said a regional council member who asked not to be identified.

"There is room for improvement in any program but it was the 'regional concept' that got us where we are today, and Danforth has given no valid reason why there should be so complete a change in the apparatus that has proved to be so effective," he said.

Danforth was said to have remarked, "This council has got to move on ... whether it makes decisions that are right or wrong, it has to move on."

According to some sources who attended the meeting and are close to the Bond administration, the governor knows and approves of the actions of Danforth but will not take a public stand.

It was announced by some members of the regional committees that the opinion and support of Sens. Stuart Symington, Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., and some congressmen, including 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison, D-Cape Girardeau, would be sought regarding the plan by Danforth to allocate regional money for state use.

Honey Colored

There are as many varieties of honey as there are nectars. Colors range from water-white to wine-red. The British beekeeper who fed his bees green sugar, however, ended up with nearly a ton of green honey no one wanted.

Life on Mars?

The question of life on Mars is unsolved. Nothing discovered by the Mariner missions excludes the possibility. Two Viking landers may provide a definitive answer in 1976.

3 file for divorce

BENTON — Three divorce suits were filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Lynn Ingram during the week ending Sept. 14.

Howard Reynolds filed suit against Gladys Irene Reynolds of Sikeston. Reynolds stated that he and Mrs. Reynolds were married July 28, 1951, and separated July 1, 1972. He reported that Mrs. Reynolds, on July 1, 1972, without cause or excuse and through no fault on his part, deserted him and has absented herself from him for more than one year.

Lucy J. Adkisson of Diehlstadt filed suit against Gary Lee Adkisson. Mrs. Adkisson stated that she and Adkisson were married Dec. 5, 1964, and separated Sept. 7, 1973. She charged that the defendant stayed out late at night without explaining where he had been and associated with other women.

Cora Mae Dykes of Sikeston filed suit against LeRoy Dykes of Sikeston. She stated that she and Dykes were married Feb. 16, 1956, and separated Sept. 10, 1973. For cause of action, she said the defendant constantly nagged and criticized her without cause refused to properly support her and has on several occasions beat her and caused her to suffer great bodily harm without provocation.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION (A.B.E.) PROGRAM

WOULD YOU LIKE TO COMPLETE HIGH SCHOOL?

The Adult and Continuing Education Division provides the opportunity for adults to complete high school. WE STRONGLY ENCOURAGE INDIVIDUALS TO COMPLETE THEIR EDUCATION, THE REGULAR HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMS AND OBTAIN A DIPLOMA. However, we are aware that some individuals have had their formal education interrupted.

(1). An individual may complete high school by obtaining a High School Equivalence Certificate. To obtain this certificate an aduit would take the General Education G.E.D. tests. We recognize that adults learn by living. To supplement that learning, we have established classes to help the adult prepare for this test.

(2). Our division also offers an adult High School Diploma Program, based on work done while in a regular High School. By evaluating transcripts, we determine the courses needed for completion. If less than six units are needed, we make a suggestion about what steps to take next.

Who is Eligible?

Anyone who is not a high school graduate and shall have attained the age which would have made it possible for him to have graduated from high school at least one year before the date of the application.

Two three- hour weekly sessions Monday and Tuesday, (6:30 to 9:30), Lincoln Community Center, 229 Westgate.

Two three- hour weekly sessions Monday and Thursday, (6:30 to 9:30), Delmo Community Center 1 1/2 mile south of Morehouse.

OF

TRI-COUNTY BANK

JOE GOOCH
VICE PRES.

MEREDITH LEE
PRES.

We are indeed pleased to present to our many customers and friends, a young man who has accepted a position as Vice President in Tri -County Bank. Joe needs no introduction in the area we serve. He was born and reared in Sikeston and later attended Murray State College and Southeast Missouri State College. His wife (the former Joy Cauthorn of Sikeston) and son presently live at 910 N. Kingshighway. Joe has had nine years experience in credit and other facets of banking which we which we believe will greatly enhance our ability to render better service; three years of that time he was associated with Shoppers Charge Service in St. Louis, advancing from Administrative Assistant to Credit Manager. He then joined the American National; Brentwood; City Bank Group in St. Louis to serve in the Credit Department, and resigned his position as Credit Card Officer in the Bank Group to accept employment in our bank. When ambitious young people leave a metropolitan area to "seek their fortune" in their home town area, it should tell us that our economy is looking better and that our potential for growth is being recognized. We invite you to come and get better acquainted with Joe and to join us in our effort to make an even greater contribution to the business climate in this area
